Instructor: Tuesday and Friday - Linda Criscitello

Adults, regardless of musical ability, can help create an environment that helps children achieve basic music competence. Children of mixed ages participate at their own level by singing, moving, chanting, listening, and exploring with musical instruments. Parents participate with children and receive music development information. There is no charge for siblings under eight months (at start date of class), but they must be included on the registration form. For more information, please call Linda at 703-424-7295. Curriculum fee: $35 per family, check payable to Music Together of Vienna, due with registration. This includes two professionally recorded CDs of the semester's collection, a songbook with illustrations, activities and parent education. In addition, all families new to Music Together receive a booklet explaining our principles, research and philosophy.

Environmental Educator Elizabeth Burke founded Mud Pie Planet to teach kids of all ages that the best place to study nature is in your own backyard. Her mission is to encourage young naturalists to get outside and, "Play Where You Are Planted." Elizabeth adapts lessons from nationally acclaimed programs such as "Project Learning Tree," "Project Wild," "Project Wet," and the National Zoo's "Reading and Writing with Wildlife." City Critters programs address Virginia's Foundation Blocks for Early Learning and use nature to teach math, science, writing, reading, communication skills and character development. Elizabeth is a certified environmental educator and is a member of the North American Association for Environmental Education, the Virginia Association of Science Teachers, the Mid-Atlantic Marine Education Association, and the Environmental Educators of North Carolina.
